

KEEPING YOU CONNECTED

When the worst ice storm in decades hit New Hampshire two weeks before Christmas, much of the region was left powerless for days on end. The Cabinet and www.cabinet.com were there to keep the community updated on the status of power restoration and school closings, but beyond that basic information, we were also sharing some of the countless stories of people pulling together in Mother Nature's wake.

One such story occurred at Hampshire Hills Sports and Fitness Club in Milford, which housed out-of-state crews working to restore power. There were many others, as well, from families opening their homes to neighbors to volunteers manning the Red Cross shelter at Milford High School.

Their generosity and energy were documented and celebrated in The Cabinet, which encouraged others to join the effort as well.
